NO ARBITRATION GOES

England Insists on Her First Demands.

NICARAGUA MUST YIELD AT ONCE

The British Government Will Not Listen to Any Offer of Compromise—The United States Are Not Intervening in the Matter—Details of Recent Events at Corinto.

LONDON, May 1.—It is learned from official sources that there has been no change in the attitude of Great Britain toward Nicaragua, the British government having no alternative but to insist upon a settlement of its demands and not listen to any offers of compromise. The United States, it is added, is not intervening in the matter.

The report that the British warships Wild Swan and Satellite have been ordered to Paso de Cabellos and San Juan Del Sur and that Rear Admiral Stephenson has cabled to London saying that Corinto is a useless possession is unfounded.

In regard to the report circulated by a news agency that it is the intention of Great Britain to seize ports in Honduras in order to secure the payment of arrears of interest on a long outstanding loan, it is pointed out that it is contrary to the policy of the British government to take such action or to infer directly to collect interest on loans.

AFFAIRS IN NICARAGUA.

The Associated Press' Special Report From Their Managua Correspondent.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 1.—Copyrighted, 1895, by the Associated Press.—No definite information has been given out here as to the attitude of Great Britain on the proposal that her warships be withdrawn from the port of Corinto as a condition precedent to the payment in London, 15 days later, by Nicaragua of $77,500 demanded by Great Britain.

It is known, however, that communications are actively passing between the Managua and Washington governments through Senor Gnzman, the Nicaraguan minister, looking to securing Great Britain's assent to the prompt evacuation of Corinto. The actual terms for the bringing about of this end have not yet been settled, but according to the information at hand, it can be stated that Nicaragua is willing to settle the trouble by accepting the proposition for a compromise on the lines above set forth.

The attitude of the United States in endeavoring to bring about a settlement of the delicate questions involved is highly appreciated by those who have the best interests of Nicaragua at heart, and it is believed that eventually, through the exercise of her good offices, the matter will be settled peaceably with honor.

Among the lower class of Nicaraguans the feeling of bitterness against what they term the arrogant and insolent attitude of Great Britain increases daily, and the local authorities at Paso De Caballos and San Juan del Sur have had some difficulty in preventing trouble over the demonstrations. It is believed, however, that the disorderly element is now well in hand. The authorities will do everything in their power to prevent any further trouble arising from the animosity against the British.

When the British took possession of Corinto they found that the town had not only been practically abandoned by its residents but that every effort had been made to prevent any but real property from falling into their hands. All the goods, etc., that had been entered and warehoused at the port had been removed and no articles of export could be found, their receipt having been stopped when it became positively known that the British would take possession of the place.

All trade at the port has been abandoned, and as has before been stated, the Pacific mail steamers no longer call there since the government declared the place to be no longer a port of entry.

Martial law was proclaimed by the government on Wednesday last, and on Saturday morning the British occupied the town, landing altogether 400 armed officers and men at four different places on the island, only to find, as stated above, that they had seized a deserted port.

Considerable comment has been caused by the seeming indisposition of the United States to more actively intervene in the dispute, some prominent persons holding that she should have gone far in support of the Monroe doctrine, but the general feeling is that if the trouble is settled honorably to both disputants, there will be owing to the United States.

Many prominent citizens have conferred with President Zelaya on this aspect of the situation and also upon the possible necessity for submitting to Great Britain's demands should she decline to entertain the proposal for a compromise. A majority are anxious to continue the offer to adjust the trouble through arbitration and regain possession of the territory now under the British flag.

Europeans here are endeavoring to create prejudice against the United States, advancing as an argument that she is indifferent to Nicaragua's subjugation and to the Monroe doctrine.

A popular loan has been started for the purpose of furnishing the government with the money to pay the British demands. One Englishman, it is stated, has cabled a subscription of £4,000 sterling to the loan. It is thought that his object is not so much to help Nicaragua out of her difficulty as to secure and retain his control of the inter-oceanic transportation business of the country.

The British have prohibited intercourse between the Island of Corinto and the main land.

A fact of importance to the United States is contained in a statement that a party of British engineers have been landed without opposition at San Juan del Sur, and that they are engaged in making sketches and taking photographs of that place and of the canal route toward Brito.

NOT REPORTED TO WASHINGTON. State Officials, However, Think It Will Be Compromised.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—At the state department the word is that Nicaragua would pay the $77,500 within 15 days after the departure of the British troops was seemingly expected, though no direct advices have been received by the department. In fact Minister Baker is now in Costa Rica, and there is very little communication between this government and the legation at Managua.

It was learned at the department that the acceptance by Nicaragua of the terms which have been proposed does not mean that the affair is settled. It is understood that Ambassador Bayard, throughout the controversy, has had to encounter the difficulty which is still presented. The British government wants the money paid in the presence of the British fleet at Corinto, or while the fleet is still there and the troops are in possession of the town. The British government, according to a state department official, wants the payment made as though under duress.

It is hoped, however, that the offer made at the suggestion of the United States, and which Managua advises say have been satisfactory to the Nicaraguan government will be agreed to by Great Britain, though no assurance to this effect has been received. It appears in this connection that the threat of revolution in Nicaragua has given the United States an opportunity to urge with more force a peaceful settlement of the present difficulty, as such a result of the British occupation might seriously threaten the lives and property of United States citizens.

As to the possible arbitration of the remaining questions in dispute between Great Britain and Nicaragua, it is understood that the United States expects to be represented, and that a request by Nicaragua that the United States be represented will probably not be refused by Great Britain. This is said will not be allowed to interfere with the settlement of the £15,500 claim by payment within two weeks as proposed.

Canal Project Looming Up.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The Maritime Canal company of Nicaragua has recently sent engineers and others to Nicaragua to prepare the way for an inspection of the work by the commission appointed by the president. The developments in connection with the British policy toward Nicaragua are said to be working favorably toward promoting the success of the canal. The English people have as never before been inquiring as to the status of the canal work. Large stockholders of the company are urging the management not to wait any longer for the American government to act, but to get the help which it is believed can now be sufficiently secured among all the commercial nations of the world and make the canal an international affair.

WAS AWAITING HIM.

Desperado Looking For Vengeance Has His Head Blown Off.

MALTA, Mon., May 1.—Henry Marshall of Warm Springs Creek shot and instantly killed Jesse Davis at 11 o'clock last night. Davis was a member of the Curry gang that recently murdered Pike Sandusky in the Little Rock case. The Davis family, together with Buck Guinn, had some trouble over an irrigation ditch and they swore vengeance on Marshall.

At 11 o'clock one of them appeared, masked, at Marshall's door. He, however, had an inkling of the trouble, and the lights were blown out and the door opened. He was lying in the dark with three Winchester rifles loaded beside him. Davis made a rush for the door, and just as he was about to put his foot over the threshold Marshall fired. The charge entered his neck, almost severing his head from his body. The other man ran.

Under Sheriff Howell, Coroner Culbertson and Dr. Crutches of Cheoteau county left this place with a large posse to take the gang. A fight is expected as it is a desperate crowd and they have sworn not to be taken alive. Marshall is a member of the well known stock firm of Mercer & Marshall.

Will Serve His Sentence.

ALBUQUERQUE, May 1.—When S. M. Folsom of Chicago, the banker who is charged with wrecking the Albuquerque National bank and the New Mexico Savings Bank and Trust company, stepped from a passenger train Monday night from the east, Deputy United States Marshal Knight placed him under arrest on indictments recently found here by a United States grand jury.

Folsom was tried and convicted last year and sentenced to the Territorial penitentiary for five years, but owing to the persistent efforts of lawyers he has never served his sentence.

Electric Storm's Destruction.

GREELEY, Colo., May 1.—The worst hail and electrical storm that has visited this vicinity for years swept over this city Monday night, killing fruit of all kinds and burning out all the arc lights in the city. The vicinity of Pleasant valley and north of town, the hawthornes were as large as hen's eggs, breaking out all the windows in the storm's path.

Young Brown was recently divorced from his wife. When the divorce was published no woman's name was connected with the case, but it is understood that the reason for the divorce lay in Brown's intimacy with Mrs. Gordon.

Gordon is in jail and no one is allowed to see him. He is unhurt, but is suffering from nervous prostration.

Gordon stated that he tried to kill himself after shooting Brown and his wife, but the cartridge failed to explode and his hand was nervous.

SHOT BOTH OF THEM

An Outraged Husband Resorts to His Revolvers.

THE TRAGEDY AT LOUISVILLE.

Arch Brown, son of the Governor of Kentucky, Shot Down in a Hawdy House, Together With His Parabour, Mrs. Gordon—Gordon Exonerated by the Coroner's Jury.

LOUISVILLE, May 1.—At separate undertakings established in this city lie the bodies of two prominent people in the state of Kentucky. One—that of Archie Brown, son and private secretary to Kentucky's chief executive—the other that of Mrs. Fulton Gordon, prominent because of her excellent family connections. The double tragedy has caused a great sensation in this city.

The following telegram found in Mr. Brown's pocket, no doubt is the direct cause of the double murder:

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28, 1895.

To Archie D. Brown, Governor's Private Secretary, Frankfort, Ky.:

Don't write my more. Come Tuesday. Meet me at S. 10 m. P. M.

Upon receipt of the above telegram Mr. Brown came to Louisville and proceeded to the appointed place, which is an evil resort at 1025 Madison street, where, at 12:35 o'clock yesterday, the tragedy occurred.

At noon Brown, with Gordon's wife, knocked at the front door of Lucie E. Smith's Madison street house. They were admitted by Mattie Mattingly, a colored woman, and immediately repaired to the upstairs front room, which had been previously engaged. Thirty minutes later a rather tall, dark-haired man knocked at the door of the house and was admitted, this was Fulton Gordon. He engaged the front lower room, saying that a woman would join him shortly. The man closed all the doors and a few minutes later a commotion was heard above, followed by a succession of pistol shots. Then there was a hurried movement down stairs as Mrs. Gordon fled from the scene. A few more shots rang out and she fell dead on the porch in the rear yard.

Gordon left the house immediately, and a few moments later Brown's corpse was found in the upstairs room.

Police Officers Reilly and La Paille were standing at Tenth and Walnut at 12:35, when some negro boys came along and told them that there had been a murder at Lucy Smith's house. The policemen rushed down Walnut street, and saw a man running for a buggy tied to a post at the corner of West street.

"The man was bloody," said Officer Reilly, "and I immediately jumped at the conclusion that he was the murderer. I ran and grabbed him just as he was in the act of jumping into the buggy. He had already untied the horse when I arrived."

Gordon, for such he turned out to be, acknowledged to the shooting, and was taken to jail.

Gordon had little difficulty in getting into the room, as the fact that there are no broken locks indicates that the entry was left unlatched. As soon as Gordon gained egress a desperate duel evidently began. Brown had a .38-caliber revolver, which was found empty after the tragedy. Gordon must have had two pistols, as six bullets pierced Brown's body and three that of Mrs. Gordon.

Just what part, if any, Mrs. Gordon took in the desperate encounter, only her husband is in a position to say.

Two bullets are imbedded in the door, severally went through a window, which faced to the north; three are buried in the walls and two in the ceiling.

Brown's body presented a horrible appearance, being covered with blood from head to foot. There were three gunshot wounds in the breast, one of them being over the region of the heart; there were two wounds in the head, one being in the center of the forehead, and there was another in the center of the stomach and another in the right arm.

Mrs. Gordon's body was found on the cellar door face downward, clothed only in a chemise and a skirt, and was in stocking feet. Her hair was loose and was hanging about her head in a tangled mass. Her face was calm and gave no sign of a struggle. Her bosom was covered with blood and her skirt was bespattered with the fluid. Her hands were tightly clenched and her face was smeared with splotches.

Mrs. Gordon was Miss Nellie Bush of this city, and comes from one of the most prominent families in this city. She eloped with Gordon about 10 years ago and moved to Frankfort. She was about 30 years old and leaves three children.

Her mother was once state librarian at Frankfort, and her grandfather was Judge Zachariah Wheat, chief justice of the court of appeals of Kentucky and one of the most learned and distinguished of Kentucky jurists.

On account of the high family connection, the murder has caused a great sensation.

Young Brown was recently divorced from his wife. When the divorce was published no woman's name was connected with the case, but it is understood that the reason for the divorce lay in Brown's intimacy with Mrs. Gordon.

Gordon is in jail and no one is allowed to see him. He is unhurt, but is suffering from nervous prostration. Gordon stated that he tried to kill himself after shooting Brown and his wife, but the cartridge failed to explode and his hand was nervous.

Gordon stated to the officer that he had suspected the couple for some time and about a week ago his suspicions were confirmed. Ever since he had kept a watch on his wife, and yesterday learning that she and Brown were at the house on Madison street, he went there and the tragedy followed.

At 8 o'clock last night the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Governor Brown, accompanied by Secretary of State Headley, arrived in the city from Frankfort at 5:30 o'clock and is stopping at the Galt House. The governor is completely prostrated by the sad affair. When seen by a representative of the Associated Press last night, he stated that he did not care to discuss the matter. Young Brown's body will be taken to Henderson for burial.

Mrs. Gordon will be buried at this place.

EVIDENCE ALL IN.

Durant Will Probably Be Convicted of Miss Williams' Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—The evidence in the preliminary examination of Theodore Durant for the murder of Minnie Williams is all in, and Police Judge Conlon will deliver his opinion next Thursday morning. He denied, for the time being, a motion of defendant's counsel to dismiss the case, ho also refused to admit Durant to bail.

When Durant was taken to the courtroom yesterday he looked pale and worn, his confinement apparently beginning to tell upon his health. Dr. J. S. Barrett, who performed the autopsy on the body of Minnie Williams, was on the stand and was cross-examined for hours by the defendant's attorneys. He stated Miss Williams died from asphyxiation and hemorrhage, the former caused by rags forced down her throat, and the hemorrhage by severing of the arteries in her wrist. Other wounds in various parts of her body were inflicted after death.

C. Hill testified that a man resembling Durant met a woman answering to Miss Williams' description near Emmanuel church on Good Friday night, walked rapidly down the street and disappeared inside the dark church. He watched them intently, because he thought the woman was his wife, keeping an appointment with another man. When he went home, however, he found his wife there. He examined the entrances and exits of the church next day, and found that the pair could not have left the church while he watched and have escaped observation.

Circumstantial evidence is cropping up and the police feel more than ever convinced that they have the perpetrator of the crimes in the person of Durant.

Chamney M. Johnson, clerk in the state board of trade exhibit rooms, says that he is positive Durant visited the rooms on April 12 last between 4:30 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon in company with a young woman who answers Marian Williams' description. He says he noticed the couple particularly because he requested them to leave at the closing time, shortly before 5 o'clock. When he saw Durant's picture in the paper he puzzled over it until he remembered Durant, as stated.

When Johnson went to the register book to see what names the couple had entered he found that the sheet bearing the entries of names on April 12 had been abstracted. Miss Williams came from Alameda to San Francisco on Saturday at 4:20 p. m., but did not reach the house where she was living until after 5 o'clock. She went out that night before 8 o'clock. The next morning her dead and mutilated body was found in the church library room.

Durant has all along denied meeting the girl on that day, while a police theory is that he made appointment with her that afternoon to meet him in the church that evening and there assaulted and slew her.

SYNDICATE WHEAT.

Two Hundred Thousand Tons to Be Shrown Upon the Market.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—The Evening Bulletin says that 200,000 tons of "syndicate wheat," which has been stored for two years in the warehouses of the late James G. Fair at Port Costa, has been placed on the market. The wheat is of the crop of 1892, 1893 and 1894. It is said that the Luning estate loaned Fair $100,000 to corner the wheat, and that the Luning estate management, nervous for fear that weevil might damage its security, has pressed the Fair estate to take up this loan.

The 1892 and 1893 wheat can not, under the rules, be sold on Change, so the wheat will be advertised for buyers generally. The wheat is estimated to be worth $1,800,000. Whether sold here or not, getting so large a quantity of wheat out of port will be a problem.

Negotiations have been made for a shipment of part of the wheat by rail to New Orleans, thence to Liverpool. It would require 5,000 cars to move half of the stored wheat. To ship all the wheat to Liverpool would take 75 vessels.

Pugilists Charged With Highway Robbery.

DENVER, May 1.—Lawrence Farrell, a pugilist, has been arrested on a charge of highway robbery. He took Mrs. Kate Hebard for a drive. They were stopped on the road by a man who beat Mrs. Hebard and robbed her of $800 worth of diamonds. Farrell, in the meantime, standing merrily by and holding the horse's bridle.

River News.

At Pittsburgh, freight and passenger traffic is better this year than for several years, and boatmen are correspondingly gratified, says a special.

Due up to-night: Stanley for Charleston and St. Lawrence for Pomeroy. Down: Ruth and Keystone State this evening, and Telegraph to-night.

Enquirer: "There is a very peculiar condition of affairs on all the Western and Southern rivers. It is now May. All the Northern lakes and rivers, notwithstanding the length and severity of the past winter and thick ice, are broken up, and navigation everywhere in the far North, with all the snow that melts in spring and sends a flood of cold water to the gulf gone. There is now nothing to hope for in the way of water till the middle of June, and at the rate the rivers are now going down it will be at rock bottom, and at the bottom of the rocks, too, by that time. We are a whole flood short already for 1895."

Sixty Men Fined.

The Mt. Vernon Eagle tells the following good one on some of the boys down in that section: "Out in Laurel County a horse was put up to be shot for, to be 'raffled off' as it is usually called. The horse was put up at $60 and sixty men had a shot each; the best shot on the target was to take the horse. A young man named Jones had made the board, charging fifty cents and agreeing to pay the other fifty cents before shooting. This he failed to do but the man he got to shoot for him won the horse. But when he started to take the horse to Jones the others took the horse away from him because Jones hadn't paid the fifty cents. The shooting was done over and a colored man got the horse. Jones sued out a writ for the possession of the horse and it was adjudged to be his property. But it didn't stop there. Judge Brown had the whole sixty men arrested for gambling and fined them $20 each."

M'GARVEY VS. CAKE.

The Former Replies to the Articles Published Last Week.

The Lexington Minister Makes Some Pointed Denials of Statements Made by Mr. Cake.

I see, from long articles in the BULLETIN of the 23rd and 24th, that Mr. Cake is not pleased with my review of his "Half-hour Talks." In this I am not disappointed. I did not write to please him. If a man with the small-pox were to appear on the streets of Maysville, men would not do what they thought would please him, but what they thought would protect the people. My exposure of Mr. Cake's pretentious ignorance of the Bible was deliberately intended to protect from his evil influence that portion of the people who were being misled by him. I attempted to follow a rule which I find in my Bible from the pen of Solomon, and which the reader will find in Prov. xxvi., 5. Whether I applied the rule successfully, I will leave for my readers, not Mr. Cake, to judge.

I think it would have been far better for Mr. Cake personally if he had followed the advice of his "true friends, persons of character and culture," and made no reply; for his attempt at reply, as those friends probably anticipated, will only add to the exposure to which he has already been subjected.

1. The reader of his articles cannot fail to have observed that he has made no attempt whatever to defend himself, except at a few points of minor importance. Even his most inexcusable blunders in quoting commonplace figures and facts of the Bible, are admitted, with the single exception of a typographical error which made him say Enoch where he wrote Enos. Now, if he had not attempted a rejoinder, some of his admirers might have thought that he could defend himself if he would; but as he has replied without even an attempt at an adequate defense, they know that he cannot make it.

2. These two essays, though written with greater caution than the "Talks," are a continued exhibition of his ignorance on the subjects which he presumes to treat. He is ignorant of the meaning of common words which he uses. He says, "If any conception I may hold of Christianity is of the sort that fosters or necessitates the resort to epithets, I will feel obligated to renounce at once that conception of Christianity." If he will look into his dictionary he will find that an epithet is "An adjective expressing some especial appropriate quality or attribute;" but in his ignorance he proposes to give up his conception of Christianity if it prompts him to use one. He is not aware that the word criterion is the plural of criterion, for he speaks of "a criteria." He might as well say, a mules, or a horses. He speaks learnedly of Miss Lewis as having found a Syriac manuscript at Mount Sinai, "presumed to belong to about A. D. 170"; when it was a Syriac Manuscript, found by Mrs. Lewis; and Archdeacon Farra, with the approval of experts, puts its date at about the beginning of the fifth century, A. D. (See the first article in the Expositor for January, '95). He says, "Textual criticism assumes the Bible to be the Word of God;" yet some of the textual critics, but not the great ones, have been rationalists like himself. He is so ignorant as to think that "Luke says he was not inspired," because he claims to have "traced the course of all things from the first;" not knowing that such tracing can be done by an inspired man as well as by one who is uninspired, and far better. He pronounces the apostle John's words about him who should take from or add to the words of his prophecy, "localisms and idiosyncrasies of this Son of Thunder," showing that he does not know what localisms and idiosyncrasies are. In the same connection he shows how ignorant he is about the dates of the New Testament books by saying, "one-half the books of the New Testament were unwritten when John uttered these curses;" whereas, even at the earliest date assigned to the book of Revelation by rationalists themselves, the year 68, all of Paul's epistles, the first three Gospels, Acts of Apostles, and the epistles of Peter and James had been written,—20 out of the 27 books.

If Mr. Cake had followed the advice of his friends who are "men of character and culture," he would not have added thus to his exhibitions of ignorance.

3. As Mr. Cake, in order to find fault with the Bible in his "Talks" misrepresents it, so now he most grossly misrepresents me; and he goes outside the subject in hand to do so. He says that I based my conclusions against the use of the organ in church worship on the "silence of the Bible." This is not true, He says, "Still later he and his educational coadjutors were the preferred referees defending the subjection, degreedation and silence of women in the church." There is not a word of truth in this statement. I was never made a referee on any such question. He says, "And still earlier, the Professor defended American slavery as a 'divine institution.'" I never did any such thing. He says I have conceded that there were two Isaiahs. I have never conceded it, and I do not believe it. I will not apply an "epithet" to these statements, though it would be easy to apply one "expressing some especial appropriate quality," as the definition of the term requires.

4. A fourth characteristic of this rejoinder, and the smartest thing in it, is the attack made on some remarks in my work entitled "The Text and Canon of the New Testament." If he could get me into a debate on the merits of that book, how cunningly he could turn attention away from the exposure to which I have subjected him. But that book says about it shall induce any persons about Maysville to read the first 52 pages in it, they will see that his ignorance of the whole subject of textual criticism is equaled only by his pretentious blustering.

In response to my deliberately expressed conviction that Mr. Cake has no right to occupy the pulpit of the Maysville church another Lord's day, he responds: "I declare you have no right to say so, neither in reason nor morals." On this issue the members of the church must, first of all, decide between us; but if a majority of them shall finally decide in his favor, and the question shall come into the civil courts, there can be no doubt of the result there; for precedents exist in abundance. I will close what I have to say on this point, and bring this notice of Mr. Cake's rejoinder to an end, by quoting the Western Recorder of the 25th inst. The editor quotes Mr. Cake's wicked statement made in his "Talks" about the twenty-one Epistles of the New Testament, and says:

We are glad to say, this infidel preacher is not a Baptist. Our Baptist pulpit infidels have the decency to step down and out before they advance so far as that. But just there is where all belittling of the inspiration and authority of Scripture logically leads.

HANDSOME TESTIMONIAL.

Colonel Joe Kindig, of York, Pa., tendered a complimentary Banquet at the Central.

Colonel Joe Kindig, of York, Pa., was tendered a banquet at the Central last night that was a handsome testimonial of the esteem in which he is held by Maysville's citizens.

Mr. Kindig is one of several brothers who are among the largest dealers in horses in the country, and they and their father before them have spent thousands of dollars in Maysville in the past. Our citizens desired to express their esteem and kindly feeling for him in some fitting manner, and with that end in view he was tendered to the banquet last night.

The appointments were perfect in every respect, Mine Host Daugherty attending to all the details. The dining room was handsomely decorated, the menu delightful, and it is needless to say all had a most pleasant time.

COAL MINERS' STRIKE.

Fifteen Thousand Quit Work Along the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

ROANOKE, Va., May 1.—A Pocahontas special to The Times says: Fifteen thousand coal miners employed at the Ohio extension of the Norfolk and Western railroad went out on a strike at noon yesterday. The men out include all the miners in the Flat Top coal region with the exception of 1,800 men employed by the Southwest Virginia Improvement company and the Brownings mines of Pocahontas.

The immediate cause of the strike was the notice by the operators of a 20 per cent reduction in wages from the 1st of May, and it is said the operators are in sympathy with the strikers and made the cuts for the purpose of bringing the men out to force the Norfolk and Western to make terms as to ears, the said operators claiming that the ears furnished were not distributed upon an equal basis.

It is reported that the strikers will attempt to force the Browning and southwest men out. If this occurs there will be trouble. The Norfolk and Western have heavy guards on all their bridges, trestles, etc.

MECHANICS' LIEN WEAKENED.

Important Decision by the Ohio Supreme Court.

COLUMBUS, O., May 1.—An important decision was rendered by the supreme court Tuesday which is regarded as materially weakening the mechanics' lien law. Bertrand A. Hayes of Toledo contracted with the Cunningham Brothers for the construction of a house costing about $6,000. Cunningham Brothers sublet the contract for plumbing to James P. Locke and subsequently failed. The house was finished and the Cunninghams were paid in full by Hayes, but the former being bankrupt, did not pay Locke for the plumbing. Locke therefore brought suit under the mechanics' lien law and won in the lower courts, but Tuesday the supreme court overruled the decision and decided in favor of Hayes.

SEVEN THOUSAND OUT.

Mines Closed in Belmont District—Labor Troubles.

BELLAIRE, O., May 1.—The coal mines of this county and Fifth Ohio district closed Tuesday. The miners demand 60 cents per ton and will not return to work until their price is granted. Where the price is given they will continue to work. Over 7,000 miners are out. Trouble is expected before the strike is ended.

Strike Now On.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., May 1.—The strike in the coal fields is practically on. Tuesday there is no excitement, but the men are determined to rest their being supplanted by nonunion men. Only five of the coal mines will be run after Wednesday out of 39. The coal traffic is practically at an end. The present movement is understood to be backed by the operators to compel the Norfolk and Western railroad to come to terms. Many miners are leaving this section, especially the negroes.

OLD FEUD RENEWED.

General Shooting Affray and Four Persons Killed.

NEWBERNE, Tenn., May 1.—There has been a general shooting affray between the Fulghums and Townsends at this place. The row started over an old feud existing since two years back. On last Friday evening Murray Fulghum assaulted Avery Townsend with an ax handle, whereupon Townsend had a warrant issued charging Fulghum with assault and battery with intent to kill.

Young Fulghum immediately left town and went to Madison, but was followed and brought back by his father and Constable Towns to trial. The case came up yesterday evening, and Fulghum was fined $50 and costs. About 5 o'clock the parties got together, words passed, pistols were drawn and fired rapidly, resulting in the almost instant killing of R. W. Townsend and his son Beauregard and Abb and John Fulghum.

ANOTHER DROP IN OIL.

Standard Knocks Off Several Cents on Price of Crude.

LIMA, O., May 1.—The Standard cut the price of oil crude oil yesterday. Tiona was cut from $9 to $5.85; Pennsylvania, to $2; Corning, to $1.85; Newcastle and Barnesville, to $1.75; North Lima, to $1.02; South Lima, to $1, and Indiana to 55 cents.

The cut has not discouraged operators in the least, and drilling and the mad rush for leases continues. The Wildcat well on the Russel farm, six miles southwest of Lima, drilled into the salt water at 15 feet and had only a light showing of oil. That defines the western limits of the pool between this city and Hume. East of the city there are a number of wells due this week.

Flouring Mills Combine.

MILWAUKEE, May 1.—Five large flouring mills plants of Milwaukee were yesterday merged into a combine, or trust, with the object of reducing expenses by doing away with eastern representatives and traveling agents. The mills in the combine are the Sanderson Milling company, Phoenix, Daisy mill, owned by Allis company; Mangold Milling company, B. Stern & Company's Jupiter mills and the Mageburg company.

Steamer Sink in Lake Huron.

PORT HURON, Mich., May 1.—The steamer A. Everett, Chicago to Ogdensburg, with grain, was sunk by the ice on Lake Huron, 20 miles above Port-aux-Barques, Monday night. The crew all succeeded in escaping, being picked up by the steamer Ebar Ward. The steamer was valued at $50,000, and is supposed to have been insured for about $38,000. She was owned by the Miuch estate.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The resignation of Theodore Roosevelt as a member of the civil service commission was received at the executive mansion Tuesday.

CONDUCTOR MYERS

Leaves the Train Service of the L. and N.—May Be Appointed Agent at Maysville.

Says the Lexington Leader: "The many warm friends of Captain J. H. Myers all along the Maysville and Lexington branch of the L. and N. Railroad, on which he has served as a passenger conductor ever since this line was opened, will be sorry to learn of his retiring from the train service of the road.

"The absence of Captain Myers was first noticed upon the arrival of his train at 8:30 Monday morning, Conductor James Dunn having it in charge. It is said that the L. and N. people will take care of Captain Myers by making him their local agent at Maysville. No more popular conductor than Captain Myers ever ran on any road, and he will be missed by his large number of acquaintances."

Bourbon News: "Captain J. Harvey Myers, who has been for many years conductor of the Kentucky Central's morning passenger train from Maysville to Lexington, has been transferred to another position on the road, and his place is being temporarily filled by Conductor James Dunn, who may become the regular conductor. Captain Myers is a conscientious and reliable conductor who will be much missed by the traveling public."

The Captain's many friends in this city regret to learn that he has retired from his position on the road, and they hope the company has something still better in store for him.
